

DR ROBINSON & PARTNERS

Confidentiality

Doctors, nurses and staff have access to your medical records for their work and they are obliged to keep them confidential at all times. If you are referred elsewhere for treatment, the relevant data will be passed to the provider of that treatment. Other organisations, such as solicitors or life assurance companies acting on your behalf, may be granted access to your records only with your written consent. Anonymised data (i.e. not identifiable to a patient) may be made available to other parts of the NHS or health organisations as appropriate for audit or statistical purposes.